

Quick supply list:

Paint: Yellow, red , blue, white , black & brown of your chosen medium (acrylic/oil or both)

Brushes: Different sizes synthetics and bristles

Thinning medium (linseed oil or acrylic medium)

Palette

Painting surface

Rags/Paper towels

Detailed supply list:

For oils:

Bring what you have. Here are my recommendations:

- Oil Paint (I always recommend having a warm/cool of each pigment):

Yellow, red , blue, white , black & brown

Recommended pigments

(you don't need ALL of those, I'm just giving a few options):

Quinacridone Red ; ; Alizarin Crimson; Naphtol Red or Cadmium Red

Ultramarine Blue ; Phthalo Blue; Cobalt Blue

Cadmium Lemon; Cadmium Yellow; Yellow Ochre; Indian yellow

Burnt Umber; Burnt Sienna ; Transparent Red Oxide

Titanium White

Ivory Black; Mars Black ;

and whatever other colors by choice.

- Brushes (always separate for acrylic/oil) :

(Bristle and synthetic - you can get a small pack of each)

Small round brush; Medium Filbert; Medium Flat Synthetic brush for blending (a couple different sizes of each)

- Other:

Linseed oil or other medium

Solvent (optional) (Preferably OMS or Lavender Spike Oil)

Oil Painting Palette (Glass or wood)

Mixing metal palette knife

Blue Paper Towels (or rags)

Oil painting paper; Canvas boards, primed board; canvas pad etc.

(I love oil painting paper, because it is easy to store & practice on)

- Optional but helpful:

Pizza box or shoe box (for Transferring art or palette)

Tall Water bottle for transferring your brushes

Murphy's Oil Soap or Masters Brush cleaner for cleaning your brushes.

For acrylic:

Bring whatever pigments you have.

Yellow, red , blue, white , black & brown (You can take recommendations from the oil section)

It is suggested you invest in an acrylic medium; however water also works.

Palette knives, brushes; palette; paper towels; jars for water; painting surface of choice